The Demonstration To-Night! Republicans! Turn Out!

We publish, elsewhere, the order of arrangements for the Republican Demonstration in Milwaukee, this afternoon and evening. There will be a goodly attendance of our. Republican brethren from the country towns and adjoining districts. There should be, too, a full turn out of our city Republicans. This, no doubt, will be the last grand parade of the Republican forces previous to the election. We hope, therefore to see EVERY MAN present at the roll-call, and prepared for duty. Come one, come

The Reception of Carl Schurz. The passion of Americans for making groat dis-plays over men who have no peculiar claims upon their gratulate or considerations, has been criticized, deprenated and ridicated for a quarter of a century at least, without producing any sensible impression upon our people. from his arduous and aucoessful campaign labors in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, New York and other States; following it up with a bitter assault upon Mr. Schunz himself, as wholly undeserving of the compliment which it is proposed to pay him. It is another illustration of the fable about "sour grapes." The Sham Democracy, finding that they can no longer use, are now busily engaged in abusing our German fellow-citizens. Mr. Schuzz comes in for an unusual share of their spite and defamation. He is variously denounced by the Democratic organs, as a "vagabond;" an "adventurer;" an "infidel;" uniting, as the News says, "braggadocie to poltreonery," &c., &c. Go on, gentlemen. These Know-Nothing "alanta" at CARL SCHURZ are characteristic of your leaders and worthy of your cause. But they cannot affect the high opinion entertained of the character, ability and ser-fellow-citizens, nor shake their purpose to give him an enthusiastic reception to-night. A Breckingidge Maa's Reasons for Supporting

The gentlemen who wanted fusion have got more than they bergained for, because if this Siste is carried for anybody save Lincoln, Joseph Lane is surely the next President of the United States, and for the Douglas and Bell electron, the Brecklaydige seen are runking them. If they are satisfied to be used, we are willing the use them. We will vote the Union Teletr entire, and hope our fellow Demography will do the same, without scratching. To the National Democracy it is harmless—to the Douglas and Bell intersects it is a swift policon. Maying defined our position, we leave the question to the people. Swallow the mixture and make those who prepared it swallow it, for it will kill them politically for ever after.

This is the entertainment to which the Douglas and BELL men in New York are civilly invited. We are curious to see how many of them will attend the "fusion" funeral. A like civility awaits them in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. "Come walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly !"

John Faust established a printing office at Mentz, and printed the Tractatus Petri Hispani in 1442. JOHN GUTTENBERG invented cut metal types and used them in printing the earliest editions of the Bible, which was commenced in 1444 and finished in 1460. But Persa Scultter cast the first metal type in matrices, and was therefore the inventor of complete printing .-This individual was an industrious young man, of inventive genius, an apprentice with FAUST, who took him into partnership imnediately after his rupture with GUTTENsero. In an account given of Scharper by Jo. Faid. Faustus, of Aschaffenburg, rom papers preserved in his family, we are nformed that the artist privately prepared matrices for the whole alphabet, and showed the letters to his master FAUST, who was so well pleased that he gave his daughter Curis-TINA to bim in marriage. FAUST and SCHEFFER concealed the new improvement by administering an oath of secrecy to all whom they entrusted, till the year 1462, when, by the dispersion of their servants into different countries at the sacking of Mentz, by the Archbishop Apolenes, the invention was publicly divulged and the art spread desires the election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Thousands of pounds of metal are run into type every year, and countless fingers are employed picking, polishing and packing the little emmissries .-Andrew Marvel, who has been dead and gone nearly a hundred years, once said, that lead was not as mortal run into bullets as into type. What would be his estimate of the mortality at our day! Here is the "Northwestern Type Foundry," of which Mr. EDWARD MILLER is proprietor. It was established in Milwaus kee in December, 1856, thus making Wisconsin the eighth State in the Union that can boast a type foundry. The business of the "concern" has been steadily on the inour city and State.

Type metal is composed of lead, tin and antimony combined in such proportions as will best secure the desirable hardness, and toughness, and, at the same time, exhibit that fineness of outline which is necessary to form the perfect letter or out, besides warranting a perfect freedom from rust and corresive agents. Types and Type Making.

Do you know how types are made?

But first, let us post ourselves a little on the history of type making. Those very ancient and now-conceded to be scientific people, the Chinese, were probably the first to take impressions from printed looks, but anything further is regard to the progress the invention made is conceal.

suide the people to return a doughtace in his place; but we do not doubt he is safe."

Is there ho reason to fear that Judge Potter may be defeated through sheer carclessness: He himself feels impelled, by a sense of public dury, to canvass the Third District to prevent the return of the doubt-healed Larrabee. But what is being done for him his lown District. We are informed that the Donocracy in the District are prepared to trade away everything; if they can secure votes for Arnold. We do not know that such is the fact, but we have no reason to doubt it. Ought not Walworth County to give Potter trenty-saves hundred majority? It can do it, and therefore ought to do so. If there is a man who would vote for Potter, but does not go to the polis; that rean should have a committee sent for him on the day of election. Not a single vote can be spared. It is the manifest duity of every Republican to turn out and vote for Potter, if his legs will carry him to the polis; and if there are any weak legs, then let the local committee see that they do not need legs. Lot them, by all means, he brought out, if they are too cartless or too lasty so come out. The pottaces are all duy, and there is no excuse for Republicans to stay at home. Whit eventer Register.

The Whitewater Register does well to urge

The Whitewater Register does well to urge upon the Republicans of Walworth County the duty of giving their fellow-citizen and gallant Representative, John F. Potter, an overwhelming majority. Certainly he ought not to lose a single Republican vote in Walworth, or in any other County of the District. He deserves them all and many a good Democratic vote besides, for his manly defence of Free Speech, on the floor of the House of Representatives, and for his faithful, intelligent and influential advocacy of the rights and interests of the North-west.

We Cannot Tell who is President until after Election.

He takes fell west in treasure and after Election.

If we are to judge of the fourse by the past, the republicans do not stand the ghost of a chance in Scher Pennyivania or Indiana. In 1856 the People's ticket in People's at the October election, was defeated by about Subdrocoving nearly one-half the popular vote of the State. At the Presidential election the republican taket received less than one-third of the popular vote, or SS,200 less than the democratic ticket, which proves that the Propole's party and the republican party are not synonymous in that State.—If that disparity still exists, Islancoin will not cone within 40,000 of earrying the State next month;
In Indiana, the democracy four years ago were 30,000 stronger at the Presidential than at the Gubernaborial election. If they prove themselves the same the year, Liccein cannot carry that State. Carl Schurz in New York City. On Thursday evening last, a great meet ing of German electors was held at the Cooper Institute, New York City, attracted thither by the promised discussion between CARL SCHURZ, for the Republican cause, and CHRIS. KRIBBEN, in behalf of sham Democracy. Mr. KRIBBEN, though he had challenged the discussion, came up "missing;" and the meeting was addressed by CARL Schunz and Dr. REINHOLD Solder, of Boston. The New York Tribune says of the gathering:

One of the most remarkable and the most cheering sevents of the Presidential campaign was the great meeting at the Cooper Institute, last evening. The vast hall of that building was thonged with an earnest and exchanged the principler and candidates of the Republican party. Contrasted with the meagre attendance and the empty seats which characterized a similar meeting recently held there, in the Democratic interest, the gathering of last night afforded conclusive demonstration that the majority of our German voters are heartly enlisted on the side of Freedom. Dr. Francis Lieber, one of the most eminent cilizens that Germany has furnished to the United States, presided with dignity; and speeches, distinguished alike for wit, begin and precedes, distinguished, alike for wit, begin and precedes, distinguished, alike for wit, begin and precedes, distinguished, alike for wit, begin and prevasive elequence, were delivered by Reinhold Solger and Oarl Schutz.

Dr. Lieber, on taking the chair, remind ed the meeting of the fact that this was the anniversary of the great battle of Leipzig, in which the Germans had come off victorious. He hoped to God that the result of the present great battle of Freedom would be as glorious to the German name as that of any strife in which German valor had triumph-

In view of the good work that CARL SCHURZ is doing among his countrymen and others for the cause of Freedom, it is no marvel that the mere mention of his name should throw the Sham Democracy into fits, or that the proposition to welcome him here, with all the honors, meets with the most emphatic disapprobation of the Milwaukee News! The News positively refuses to 'earry a torck' on the occasion.

The Improvement in Labor-Saving Machines.

From the New York Daily News.

The mysteries of "Ick-stitch" and "shuttle-stich" may not seem a very promising subject of interest to the uninitiated; yet the war waged among the Sewing Machine manufacturers, as to their relative merits and claims on public patronage and attention, have rendered it, for the time being, one of importance to the whole community, and of sufficient consideration to cooling a prominent place in the columns of the public press.

The fact is, we are all of us some way concerned in ascertaining which may be the best machine now offered in the market, for there is, searcely a family or individual that does From the New York Daily News.

MESSERS. EDITORS:—The Republican Convention for this (3d) Assembly District have nominated David N. Minon, Esq., of this town, for Member of Assembly in and for this District.

This nomination is conceded to be a good one by the majority of the people in this vicinity, and it is believed that he will be elected by a handsome majority at the coming election; which, by the by, is close upon us—is here!

It seems to be the prevalent feeling, as the series of loops, with a straight thread running through them, the end left loose; and this is, in its most simply practical form, just the point at issue between the advocates of the Grover & Baker and "shuttle-stitch is the series of loops with a straight thread running through them.

The U. S. Senate—Another Republican field.

The tidings, yesterday, of the election of Col. E. D. Baker, formerly a Representative from Illinois, as one of the U. S. Senators

To the tidings of the district down the contents of the first inventors of Sewing Machines, and some of the large capitalists who subsequently undertook their extensive manufacture, were content to let their machines remain in a state of partial perfection. They found that the good old Washington and Justine the field was but beginning to be cultivated, and that more energing a bold and liberal policy, reap a hand-his audience in good humor. As a specimen brick, we give an abstract of his remarks on the Work finsion:

made to that sites on the court of the solution of the curity and want of strength and elasticity.

Mr. Grover perfected a machine which achieved these great results—strength, security and clasticity of seam—in 1851, and from that time his progress in the business has been an uninterrupted career of mechanical and pecuniary triumph. Associated in the firm of Grover, Baker & Co., he has in-troduced sewing machines of more perfect construction to public use than all other ilized world.

Messis. Grover & Baker, though, were not satisfied with their first invaluable improvement, which alone was sufficient to make their machines the very best yet presented for public approval; but, having distanced all rivals, they went to work to surpass themselves, and their patent of 1851 was rapidly followed by other petents in the ensuing years of 1852, 1853 and 1858, each while element. Then all danced round the pot; but the contents refused to mix. What is to be done? Douglas comes in and puts, into the kettle the requisite article, LYE, (applause) and the mess unites. But what does it make? Sort Soar! (Tremendous applause.) And then the Duers and the Hunis take this soft seap, and go about the country apreading it all around. But the pure waters of Republicanism were going to wash it all off, and leave things clearer and purer than hefore its application. that require aftering, with the utmost quick-

> [Original,] SHADOWS. WEITER SUNDLY, OCTOBER 21st. BY MRS. JCLIA FORD.

The day is sad and lonely, All nature's dark and dear, The sighing breezes only Tell of sorrow here,

The fading leaves but say: All nature now is dying, And this her funeral day, My heart is beating sadly,

The Antumn winds are slybing.

And with all nature gladly Would to the destroyer bow. We turned our footsteps early

The voice of prayer fell coldiy, The message, O how void! Ah! wherefore comes this sadness. The same dear Saviour dies,

His promises are all gladness. To all but earth-blind eyes. Father! my father, hear me. Let not this poor heart fail. In this dark hour be near me. Of ! let thy love prevail,

THE LILY OF THE VALLEY.

[UDNOLUDED.]
The next day the wounded man was pronounced better, but still in a very critical situation; and his removal was expressly forbidden by the old surgeon.
"Ye mann keap him here awhile yet, lassie," he said, addressing Helen, "and, I'm a'most persuaded, ye'll has to be his nurse.
He has nae sisters or mother to send for, it seems; and men are very rough nurses, ye seems; and men are very rough nurses, ye ken. Mrs. Colin here will, nae doubt, help; but ye maun be his nurse, maist of the time, yeerself. Aweel, awerl, don't look frighten-ed; it's what can't be helped."

And so Helen, timid and embarrassed, was compelled, from the urgent necessity of the case, to attend on the wounded man.— His friend, indeed, remained to assist in nursing him, but the invalid, with the whim CARLOS CLIDDEN.

of a sick man, soon came to refuse his medicine, unless administered by the hand of Helen and sweetened by her smile. Moreover, until the danger was over, his friend watched every night at his bedside, and, requiring a portion of the day in consequence for rest, Helen was necessarily left alone for hours with the wounded man. The surgeon, Law, PARRISH & HORINTHAL, TARRISH & HORINTHAL, CONTROL STATE OF THE STATE OF

for the first two weeks, came every day to see his patient, but after this, visited him less frequently.

"He is getting along weel enough now," he said one day, when Helen followed him out of the room to ask his opinion. "All he needs is carefu' nursing, such as ye ken weel how to gie him. Ah, inssie," he continued, amiling archly, and shaking his west now to give nim. And, inserse," he con-tinued, smiling archly, and shaking his grey head, "I would, mysel" be a'most will-ing to be on a sick bed for a fortnight, if

It was not long after this, for he now mended repidly, that the invalid began to sit up, and very soon he could totter to the window and look out. In a day or two more he found his way to the cottage door, where, sitting in a chair, he inhaled the delicious mountain air for an hour or so at moon-day. His friend, when the invalid was thus far convalencent, took to his gun again. thus far convalescent, took to his gun again and went out for game; and so Helen and her guest were frequently left alone alto-

It is not to be supposed that this intimacy between two congenial spirits could go on without love, on one side at least.

"How shall I ever thank you sufficiently, Helen?" said Donald, one day looking at her fondly, "I have never dayed to allude to it since, though I have thought of it fifty times daily; but your presence of mind when I was dving between two congenial spirits could go on without love, on one side at least.

"Don't talk that way, dir. Alleyne," she said. "You would not, I know, if you were aware how much it pained me."
"Call me Doundd," said the convalescent;
"surely we have known each other long onough for you to drop that formal name.—
Or, if you will not call me Donald, then I shall address you as Miss Greene."
"Donald, then," said Helen, archly, looking up and shaking the curis back from her face.

"Bless you for the word, Helen," he said,
taking her hand. "Do you know it sounds swester now than I ever thought it would? sweeter now than I ever thought it would? Nay, dear one, do not withdraw your hand—do not look away—for I love you, Helen, as I love my own life, and, if you will not be mine, I shall ever be miserable. It is this, too, that I have been long wishing to say to you, but never dared.

And did not Helen return the love thus And did not here return the love thus warmly expressed? Had she been with him so much not to know how immensely superior he was to other men? Why did she, in fact, shake her head and persist in withdrawng her hand.
"Mr. Alleyne," she said, though with "Mr. Alleyne," she said, though with averted face, for the tears were falling fast from her eyes—she no longer said Donald, —"if you would not have me keep out of your sight forever—if, in short, you have any respect for a friendless girl—do not speak in that strain again." And she rose as if to depart.

- "Helen," for heaven's sake hear me," said "Helen," for heaven sake hear me, "said her lover, detaining her, "hear me only for one word more. "Then you love me," said he eagerly.—
"Is it not 50?" But this time Helen faced him, and with a dignity that quite awed his rapture.

"Mr. Alleyne, will you let me go? I am an unprotected girl, and you presume on my struction."

an unprotected girl, and you presume on my situation."

"No, by heaven, no," he exclaimed. But he let go her hand. "There, leave me, cruel one. You misjudge me, indeed, Miss Grame, for your blood is as good as mine; and, even if it were not, Donald Alleyne is not the man to love for rank or wealth."

Belen, whose pride rather than heart had spoken, was moved by these words, and she lingered irresolutely. Her lover saw the change in her demeanor, and hastened to take advantage of it. Nor did Helen resist his pleadings. She loved him, indeed, only too well, as she had all along confessed to her own heart. Still, even when brought to half acknowledge that he had a place in her heart, she would not promise to be his her heart, she would not promise to be his without a condition. "We must part for a year. You think now, with the memory of your illness fresh upon you, that you love me; but I am come of too haughly a blood, though poor now, to marry even where I might love, on such a sudden and questionable—excuse me, for I must same the paints and the sudden and the subject as a I must speak plainly—such a sudden and questionable attachment. You are rich, fashionable, and with influence; I am the last of a line prosoribed ever since Culloden. Your place is the gay world, where you will be surrounded by troops of friends; mine is in the humble cabin, where a few poor dein the humble cabin, where a new poor dependents have been my only companions ever since my father died: If you really love me, you will return at the end of the year; and if you forget me," her lips quivered, but she went on, "if you forget me, I shall live here, with the heather and mulrocek, as I have lived before."

Her layer was therefore, compalled to sub-

Her lover was, therefore; compalled to submit. But think you he honored or adored her less for her resolution? No, he worshipped her the more for it. There was a proud independence in her basishment of him which became, he said to himself, the daughter of chieftains who had fought at Bannockburn and Flodden Field, and sacrificed their all at Onlioden.

Bannockbern and Flodden Field, and sacrificed their all at Culloden.

Two trocks from that time Donald and his friend left the highland cabin, and Helen was alone. Never before had she known what it was to be really alone. She missed the presence of that manly form, the light of that manly voice, continually. She never the manily voice, continually. She never the was how kauch she loved till her lover was knew how kauch she loved till her lover was away.

The presence of the translation of the translat hours, watching with an eager, timid heart, half trembling at her own folly in expecting haif trembling at ner own folly in expecting him, half angry with herself for her doubts; but now, as the gloaming came on, yet no Donald appeared, her bosom swelled night to bursting. She rose frequently, and looked up the bridle path, but nothing was in sight. At last the stars began to peop out; the wind grew chill; and, with an almost broken than the rose of t licart, she rose to return to the cabin. Her tears were falling fast. "I might have known this," she said, sadly. "Do not all my books tell me the same? Ever the old story of trusting woman and deceiving man. At this instant, an arm was thrown around her waist, and a well remembered voice whispered in her ear-"Now, Helen, dear, one of our cruel sex, at least, is faithful. I thought to steal on you unaweres and surprise you, and so went round by the cottage to leave my horse there. Had you looked behind instead of before, you would have frustrated my little scheme, by seeing me come up the gloaming. What could she say? She said nothing.

but, burying her face on his shoulder, wept glad tears. "I have waited a whole year impatiently for this day," said he; "thank God I find you mine at last." A month frem that time Sir Donald Al-leyne introduced his bride to his ample domain in Eugland; and never had a fairer wife entered the splendid balls of his ancestors.

BOSTON FLOUR MARKET. The Collecter of Saturday morning says:

There is a steady demand for flour, and prices remain about the same. We quote common brands western at $5,000,575; fanoy brands $5,800,50; extras at $6,000,575; fanoy brands $5,800,50; extras $1,000,50; if y bol; including all kinds. Southern is steady at $5,25 for fanoy; $6,750,7,25 for extra; and $7,500,8,75 for superior.

THE FUR TRADE, THE FOR TRADE.

His too early by about two weeks to give the range of prices; but dealers give it as their opinion that they must rule lower than last year, which seems like a reasonable view of the case, in view of the September ester in London, which went off very unsatisfactorily as to prices, owing doubtless in a great measure, to the extremely large ontels last year. Should any potent cause supervene to depress the market, sustias a general war or a mild winter, prices the ensuing season must go quite low, but with prosperous times, the returns for our shipments may be better than has generally been supposed.—Del. Tribune.

The Richmond Whig presents a statement of the tubacco trade of Virginia, and incidentally of the country, for the year 1860, from which we condense the following facts:

The business for the past season has been unsatisfactory, in consequence of the low range of prices, the result of a combination of adverse circumstances. The year commenced with large stocks on hand, the crop has been large, and the quality has generally been inferior. Prices lawe rund lower, in consequence, than they have for any previous season for the last ten years, not excepting even the depressed season during the financial crisis of 1837-59. This has been especially the case with the commoner qualities with which the market has been glutted. The average market range of exported tobacco and stems, at Richmond, for the past four years, has been:

1839-80. $101.1837-53. $134 The prices have ruled, with alight variations, throughout the range of tobacco marts.

The importations for a series of years for all the tobacco marts of Virginia for a series of years, foot up as follows:
